BRR Offers Public Planning Services

BRR now offers planning and plan review services to public planning and building departments and agencies. BRR has long been a leader in providing planning and plan review services to retail clients, with a combined 20 plus years of private sector experience. With over 20 years of public sector planning experience, BRR is pleased to now offer planning and plan review services to public sector clients. Planning Team members have extensive experience preparing Comprehensive Plans, Unified Development Codes, Big Box (Design) Ordinances, Annexation Plans, Development Agreements, project review and analysis, Parks & Recreation Plans, and Community Visioning. The Planning Team can also provide on-call development code and building plan review services to review of development proposals, site plans and plats and building construction plans. BRR's world class Pre-Visualization Team can provide photo-realistic 3D images, maps and other forms of graphic representation. In addition to our 20 years of public planning experience, we have represented clients in 49 states and have been exposed to virtually every type of development code and development process being used across the U.S.
